The Alliance for Downtown New York is bringing together Lower Manhattan's business community by sponsoring a free educational and networking event for small business owners, entrepreneurs looking to start a small business and non-profit organizations.

The Downtown Alliance's Small Business Community Expo will take place on Wednesday, June 10th at Capital One Bank, 227 Broadway (at Chambers Street), from 6:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

This small business expo will provide a forum for participants to connect to free resources and learn about subjects including starting and growing a small business, cutting expenses, employee training programs and workplace health and wellness. Participants will also be able to market themselves, find new business partners and make valuable contacts.
